

The Magic Quarter

Let's Make A Wish To Make A Difference

Dear Business Owner,

Renee Chiopelas passed away on January 1st of 2010. She was 56 years old. She was a loving mother, wife, sister, daughter, and best friend. She was more than that, though. She was a beautiful person. Always enjoying life and laughter. She passed away far too soon, but her memory will never be forgotten. Renee was diagnosed with Stage IV metastatic melanoma about 3 years earlier. The early diagnosis did not look good and they originally told her that she only had 1-3 months to live. She made the decision that she would fight and fight she did. She fought for 3 long years beating the odds time and time again. She always did so with an optimistic attitude and smile on her face. Even in the darkest hours, she was able to stay positive not only for herself, but because she knew she was the strength for her family and friends. The event, TheMagicQuarter.org, was created in her memory.

On May 8th, 2010, we will have the opportunity to not only remember her life and the woman she was, but to also try to help change the future. It will be an evening of fun, but also to support a great cause. May is National Melanoma/Skin Cancer Awareness month. All proceeds from this event will be donated to The V Foundation. The V Foundation awards 100% of all direct donations and net proceeds of events directly to cancer research and related programs. Established in 1993, it has raised over $90 million to fund cancer research. The proceeds from this particular event will go to melanoma research. Our goal is to raise as much money as possible to help further research and ultimately to help provide a cure for this disease. With your help, we hope to get closer to that end goal.

This will be the inaugural event for The Magic Quarter. It was created to remember Renee's life through raising money for melanoma research. The event is making great strides to secure several sponsorships, music entertainment, and raffle prizes. Since you are an important member of the local business community, we ask you to consider making a contribution to this remarkable event. All proceeds collected will go to The V Foundation for melanoma research.

Enclosed please find a donation form. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

TheMagicQuarter.org in association with The V Foundation
